7. Impact Assessment:

Personal Growth

Skill Development:

- Team work: Working on single task along with multiple members taught me how to unite on single task with various mindsets and ideas coming together forming a single idea and agreeing upon a single opinion.
- Communication skills: Moving around various professionals and other people too got some communication skills, bargaining skills, convincing other people.
- Practical application/real-world application: I got to know about the ground reality while working on actual field is totally different from the theoretical world or the one we imagine in our minds.
- Compromisation: Sometimes your opinions won't get considered so without being affected by so we should need to come up with valid points next time but till then we have to compromise and agree to others' ideas.

- Boosting confidence: When an activity is done successfully you get a self-worth moment and get confident enough. Social Work:
- Food, clothes have been reached to needy people.
- Awareness about tree plantation, conservation has been made through activities like ‘Vrikshadindi’ awareness about eye related diseases have been made through pamphlets.

8. Conclusion:

- Challenges faced and solution: Being optimistic and having a positive mindset surely helps to overcome any kind of problem. I addressed many challenges I faced during this internship earlier but having positive mindset, sometimes with presence of mind I managed to overcome most of the problems.
- Personal growth: Learnt many values, skill of how to work in a team having a lone vision but with different kind of personalities and perspectives and with people of different age. As the generation changes way of thinking is changed. People of different age have diversity in their thinking so, while working with them you have to go with the flow or should adjust/mould as the team requires.

9. Recommendations:

For organization:

- There should be detailed training and skill development sessions for interns to master the skills required during overall internship so one can get full idea on how to work in such organizations.
- Structured feedback mechanism should be there. Establish a formal feedback system where intern can receive regular, constructive feedback on their performance and progress.

For Future Interns:

- Clearly define your personal goals and expectations for the internship at the outset and communicate them to your supervisor.
- Regularly seek feedback from your supervisors and colleagues and take initiative to explore additional learning opportunities.

- Engage Actively with the Team. Actively participate in team meetings, projects, and organizational events to build relationships and gain a fuller understanding of the organization.
- Be Open to Challenges and Adaptability. Approach challenges with a positive attitude and be flexible in adapting to different tasks and responsibilities. Keep a journal or log of your experiences, challenges, and achievements throughout the internship.
